

TIPS FOR CABIN COMFORT

Long pants are your best bet onboard— it gets cold in those upper altitudes, and skimpy airline blankets can be a petri dish of other passengers' germs.

Always pack one full extra outfit in your carry-on in case of spills or lost luggage. (And while we're on the topic, never check anything you're not willing to risk losing.)

Up for debate:
boots. They can be
a snag at security,
but wearing them on
the plane sure frees up
room in your suitcase.
You make the call.
